Why Girl Scouts?

From kindergarten through high school, girls learn teamwork, mutual respect, goal setting, and leadership in all of their Girl Scout activities.

Why Girl Scouts?

All Girls - In an all-girl environment, girls take the lead.

Leadership - Every girl has the opportunity to be a leader.

Social skills - Working together with other girls will help girls build strong interpersonal skills.

Inclusion - We welcome girls of all religions, opinions, races, ethnicities and socio-economic levels.

Progression - Our program is a progression of leadership development from the first day of Kindergarten to adulthood.

Affordability - We are the best bargain in town - our annual membership dues are $12.

Safety - Our volunteers are trained and thoroughly screened.

Assistance - We offer financial assistance to members, so every Girl Scout can participate in activities.

Pathways

Girl Scout pathways are flexible ways that girls and adults participate. It is one way Girl Scouts is evolving to meet the needs of today's girls as well as a strategy for recruiting and retaining members. You can join Girl Scouts any time through a variety of "pathways."

Troop: Join with a group of girls your age to participate in fun activities through the school year. Girls may join at any time during the troop year.

Camp: Explore nature and outdoor experiences by day, weekend, or resident camp, learning and having fun with assistance from adult counselors.

Events: Come to fun stand-alone events that match with your interests and meet other Girl Scouts your age who share your interests.

Series: Sign up for a series of program sessions that relate to a specific theme or special interest like art, fitness, biking, or drama with other girls who want to learn about the same things.

Travel: Travel and explore new places by working with other girls to prepare, plan and then hit the road with adult support on great council-sponsored trips, or national excursions.

Virtual: Be part of an online Girl Scout community that brings girls together through a Web-based platform and includes interactive and high-quality program activities in a safe, secure online environment.
